Pula, surroundings, building land with an existing building

Pula is the largest city in Istria, and like the rest of the region, it is known for its mild climate, calm sea and untouched nature.

The town has a long tradition of winemaking, fishing, shipbuilding and tourism.

In the vicinity of Pula, there is a building plot of 960 square meters for sale, with an existing building of 64 square meters.

The land is located at the end of the village, in an extremely quiet location.

Electricity and water connection is located on the field.

Considering the proximity to the sea, a holiday house with a swimming pool can be made with the necessary reconstruction.
